TDSB locks up — but throws away the key

In the hands of the press. Board will spend thousands to switch locks as a precaution

The Toronto District School Board is changing locks at some schools after accidentally releasing lock codes to the media.

A TDSB official said when it released the electronic registry to the Toronto Star, which hosted the data on its website for a project on school construction and maintenance costs, officials forgot to remove notations of pin codes for locks at about 100 schools. The TDSB said there were no security breaches but as a precaution decided to go into the schools and change the codes.

School board spokesperson Shari Schwartz-Maltz said the board estimates it will take their locksmiths the summer to reconfigure the cylinders of locks involved using new pin codes.

"There is only one exterior door involved and that has already been dealt with. The rest are filing cabinets, gym doors, main office doors," she said.

"We released information in the spirit of transparency and accountability. We realized an error was made and we are committed to making sure any additional information released is properly vetted."

The TDSB estimates it will cost $700,000 in work hours to fix the lock problem.

Father of autistic boy files complaint against Doug Ford

Ford's comments. He said a group home to autistic youth was ruining the community

jessica.smithcross@metronews.ca

Tommy Lenathen has gone to Toronto City Hall carrying a picture of his autistic son and the complaint he was filing with the integrity commissioner against Coun. Doug Ford.

His complaint is about Ford's comments about autistic youth who live at a group home in Etobicoke.

In May, Doug Ford spoke at a public meeting about a home for youth with developmental disabilities, mental health challenges and autism run by the non-profit Griffin Centre in Etobicoke. At the meeting, residents complained about the home and Ford said it was "ruining" the community.

"My heart goes out to kids with autism. But no one told me they'd be leaving the house. If it comes down to it, I'll buy the house myself and resell it," the Etobicoke Guardian reported Ford as saying.

Later, Ford said the youth had "violent tendencies" and, without providing evidence, suggested they were responsible for local crime.

"I do believe his comments are unbecoming of a councillor," Lenathen says.

"It shows his total ignorance of what autistic kids are, and kids who are developmentally delayed," said Lenathen.

Lenathen's 26-year-old son Thomas is autistic. He's the reason Lenathen filed a complaint to the integrity commissioner that asks Ford to apologize to the staff of the Griffin Centre, take sensitivity training offered by the city, and resign.

"I was hesitant because I'm a 35-year city employee and I didn't know if I were to file a complaint if they'd be vindictive if I did something," he says. "But when I went home and looked at Thomas ... I had thought I had to say something, I had to do something."

Lenathen suggested Ford was being hypocritical when he questioned the effect autistic kids in the neighbourhood might have on home prices, given he's never said the same about 15 Windsor Rd. — the home where his brother Mayor Rob Ford was filmed smoking crack cocaine.

"He never went down there saying it's bringing property values down and the police presence — no, he takes on four autistic kids."

In the complaint, Lenathen wrote about the successes Thomas has had since being "integrated" into the community — such as graduating from a "regular" high school — and how professionals like the ones at the Griffin Centre helped him do it.

"Coun. Doug Ford has no idea what these kids and their families have gone through to get to this point," he wrote.

Lenathen didn't get a chance to speak with Ford on Thursday, but he did receive confirmation from the integrity commissioner that his complaint was being forwarded to the councillor, who's been asked to respond by July 14.

Ford did not respond to a request for comment on this story by deadline.

New dads hold son for first time

New dads Frank Nelson, 44, and BJ Barone, 34, both teachers with the Toronto District School Board, hold their son Milo on June 27 in Kingston, Ont. The photograph of the two shirtless fathers holding their baby for the first time garnered a lot of attention online and been liked more than 40,000 times on Facebook. "I remember being in pure joy," recalled Nelson. "I think it has been a gift to everyone who sees that photo and knows that it does not matter if it's a man or a woman or gay couple, anyone would feel utter joy in that moment." Poll on mayor

Listeners largely unsatisfied with Ford's apologies

A new poll suggests Rob Ford's return to Toronto after a two-month leave of absence to receive treatment for substance abuse was not exactly triumphant.

Sixty-one per cent of Toronto voters watched or listened to the mayor's post-rehab speech Monday. But of those, 60 per cent weren't satisfied with his apologies for drinking, drug abuse and a long list of offensive behaviour, the Forum Research poll suggests.

Killoran. Students defend 'shirtless jogger' teacher

Students who've had Joe Killoran as a teacher and debate coach say he's one of the best they've ever had.

A few students contacted Metro to come to Killoran's defence after they heard Coun. Doug Ford's comments about their teacher.

After Killoran confronted Mayor Rob Ford Tuesday during a Canada Day parade — while shirtless and jogging, earning him the nickname "the shirtless jogger" — Doug Ford told the media that Killoran was "racist," indoctrinates students and has anger issues.

"That's such a giant accusation, calling a teacher racist," said Georgia Koumantaros, who is going into Grade 11 at Malvern Collegiate Institute next year.

She said she was "peevd" when she heard what Ford said and felt the councillor was "throwing around" words — like "racist" and "indoctrination" — without actually knowing what they mean.

"I just thought, 'You're supposed to be representing people; you should at least know what that is. Racism has caused so many horrible things. Everyone should know the definition of racism.'"

Ford later explained the accusation, saying: "You can be racist against people that eat little red apples. You can be racist against people who have a drinking problem. You can be racist against people that are too fat."

During Tuesday's confrontation, which was captured on video, Killoran expressed sympathy for the mayor's addiction while calling him a "corrupt, lying, racist homophobe."

Koumantaros plans to take Killoran's law class in the fall. She was on the debate team he coached last year and said his classes were so interesting that students not in them would pause by the door to listen.

The students voted him as the best teacher for this year's yearbook, she said.

Jesse Sanderson was in Killoran's law and politics classes and said he was the best teacher in the school.

"We would have philosophical debates," he said. "He taught us from libertarianism to communism, about liberal internationalism. He wasn't biased at all."

He said Killoran's talks on Rob Ford did stand out and that Killoran has said he doesn't like Ford. But "we would see both sides," he said.

Improper fundraiser

Turn Mammoliti case over to police: Lawyer

Coun. Giorgio Mammoliti should face a police probe after the integrity commissioner found he accepted at least $80,000 in cash from a fundraising dinner thrown for him, says the lawyer who complained about the event.

A 30-page report from the city's integrity commissioner, Janet Leiper, released Thursday concluded that Mammoliti breached the city's code of conduct by accepting the cash as a gift. Leiper has recommended he forfeit 90 days of pay.

Leiper found that two of Mammoliti's staff actively organized the $5,000-per-table fundraising dinner at the Royalton Banquet Hall in Woodbridge on taxpayer time and later tried to scrub any mention of the councillor's name or the "Giorgio Mammoliti Campaign" as the organizing party from contracts and invoices.

Brian Iler, the lawyer who filed the original complaint, argued there are grounds for police to investigate and said he would file a complaint if necessary. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Fan has Olympic ambitions for cricket

Demonstration. Local man campaigning for Pan Am showcase, which could help lead to sport's return to Summer Games

jessica.smithcross@metronews.ca

One of the city's top cricket fans is working on getting a match played at the Pan Am Games — a possible step to seeing cricket become an Olympic sport once again.

Ranil Mendis is an organizing force behind the CIMA (Chartered Institute of Management Accountants) cricket initiatives, including the Mayor's Cricket Trophy.

The annual tournament sees school teams from across the GTA compete and has become a must-attend event for politicians — even those who have no idea how to play the game.

Mendis said he's approaching Pan Am Games authorities about putting on a demonstration match played by students.

"With that, we can get into the next step of pushing the Olympics to consider it," he said.

Cricket hasn't been played in the Olympics since England and France duelled in 1900. Recently, cricket news sites have reported on resistance from some international cricket bodies to bringing the sport to the Games, despite apparent support from the International Olympic Committee.

Some high-profile GTA cricket boosters would love to see it happen.

pecially in the schools, Mendis said.

On Thursday, a group of local young stars who were selected to travel to England to play as part of the annual Cricket Across the Pond program were celebrated at city hall.

U.K. Consul General Jonathan Dart gave a speech to the students, saying he hopes that Canada gets a fully fledged national team soon and that some of the students could be on it.

"It's worth maintaining your aspirations at that level.

You're good enough; the sport is going quickly enough," he said.

He also told Metro he'd love to see cricket played at the Olympics.

TTC CEO Andy Byford is also on board with cricket becoming an Olympic sport.

Byford learned to play cricket at school as a boy in England. He is a member of the "Barney Army" — the England cricket fans' association — and was in Sydney to see England beat Australia at the Ashes, a sporting event he said is as meaningful to him as Canada beating the U.S. at Olympic hockey is to many Canadians.

Byford said only a short version of the game would work in the Olympic context.

A test match — his favourite kind — lasts for three to five days, and can then end in a draw, he said. The popular shorter versions of the game lead to a focus on bashing the ball rather than strategy, "but it makes for a great spectacle because both teams have to absolutely go all out for victory."

Muhammad Shahad, one of the players selected for Cricket Across the Pond, agreed with him.

"I think the shorter version of the game should be in the Olympics," he said.

"I'd be wanting to play for that team."

Deaf dining on the menu at Signs Restaurant

Your order will fall on deaf ears at a new Toronto restaurant — but that's not a bad thing.

In fact, that's the whole point at Signs Restaurant, Canada's first restaurant mostly staffed by deaf servers. Opening July 16 at Yonge and Wellesley, the new bar and restaurant — "where noise meets silence" — asks customers to order food and drink using sign language with assistance from a "cheat book" that illustrates how to sign menu items.

Want the chicken salad? Use your index finger and thumb to chomp once like a beak, and toss a salad with both hands. In the mood for rabbit? Turn your hands inward against your temples and flap two fingers like bunny ears.

It's sure to be an entertaining — and educational — dining experience, but Signs is really more than that. Owner Anjan Manikumar has embarked on a kind of community service for a deaf population that often struggles to find employment in a speech-oriented workforce. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Electric shock over time alone with your thoughts?

I think, therefore I am ... bored. Study put students minus phones and other distractions alone in a room for six to 15 minutes

Wouldn't you love to escape this busy world and just spend some time alone with your thoughts? Maybe not, says a study of volunteers who actually tried it.

Some even started giving themselves electric shocks as the minutes ticked by.

"I think many of them were trying to shock themselves out of boredom," said psychologist

Timothy Wilson of the University of Virginia, and co-author of the study. "It's just a sign of how difficult (being alone with one's thoughts) can be for people ... This isn't something that most people find really enjoyable."

In a series of experiments, college students left their cellphones and other distractions behind and spent six to 15 minutes alone in a sparsely furnished room on campus. They were told to entertain themselves just with their thoughts.

The experience was not exactly heaven. On a nine-point scale of enjoyment, their average rating was about in the middle. About half gave it a rating at the half-way mark or below.

And when the researchers had 61 people from the community try it at home, about half admitted to cheating by doing things like checking their cellphones, writing or doodling.

The most startling experiment involved the electric shock. Students first shocked themselves in the ankle and rated how unpleasant that was. They were asked to imagine being given $5 and to specify how much they would pay to avoid another shock, or to receive one. Then they were told that if they wanted to, they could shock themselves again during their time alone.

Of the 55 participants, 42 said they would pay to avoid feeling the shock again. But once they were left alone, even some of these volunteers chose to shock themselves anyway; 12 of 18 men and six of 24 women. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OPENNESS AND TRANSPARENCY ALL PART OF TTC'S COMMITMENT TO RIDERS

COMMISSION

One of the seven strategic objectives of the TTC's Five-Year Corporate Plan is to improve the company's reputation. Specifically, the objective is to create an organization that is transparent and accountable, well-regarded by stakeholders and peers, and in which employees are proud to play a part.

Though this will take time to deliver, an improved reputation is critical to achieving our vision of "a transit system that makes Toronto proud."

So how will we achieve this?

Over the past two years, a lot of effort has been put into making the organization more transparent, accessible and accountable. We now publish daily and monthly statistics for key performance indicators such as bus, subway and streetcar on our website. The CEO's monthly report has been made more user-friendly and is also available on the TTC website.

In our subway stations, the local Group Station Manager's picture is prominently displayed along with details on how to provide feedback on any aspect of our service.

We have increased the amount of face to face time with customers via regular "Meet the Manager" sessions and quarterly Town Hall meetings that enable us to hear, first-hand, where customers want us to improve.

Community relations are equally important. A dedicated unit has been established to improve co-ordination with the City and its agencies so that construction and other large projects are better planned and better communicated to local communities and riders. And we are making real efforts to improve consultation with local Councillors and other stakeholders such as Business Improvement Areas so that they understand and support the need for public transit.

Employee buy-in to our plan is also vital. That is why we recently held more than 80 employee town halls to brief TTC staff on our plan so that they know what is required of them as we strive to deliver an improved TTC to you.

In the end, it is the reliability of our service that has the greatest impact on our reputation and the other six strategic objectives of our plan will help deliver on this.

KEELE STREET TO CLOSE AT FINCH AVENUE WEST STARTING JULY 7

Keele Street will be closed to all traffic between Finch Avenue West and Four Winds Drive from July 7 to August 31 for work related to the Toronto-York Spadina Extension. In addition, a 100 metre section of Keele Street, immediately south of Finch Avenue West, will be closed for approximately two weeks starting July 7. A detour route, via Murray Ross Parkway, Tangiers Road, and Toro Road, will be in place throughout the closures.

As construction of the underground structure at the future Finch West Station nears completion, these closures are needed to install utility connections, remove traffic bridges, and backfill over station structures.

For more information, visit spadina.ttc.ca or call 1-800-223-6192. The TTC thanks its customers for their patience during these closures.

Blade Runner a 'paradox': Physician

Oscar Pistorius is a "paradox" whose past triumphs as a sprinter crossing the finish line with raised arms contrasted sharply with the daily, severe limitations that he endured because of his disability, a physician testified

Thursday at the runner's murder trial.

Wayne Derman, a professor of sport and exercise medicine at the University of Cape Town, said in court that the contrast likely contributed to stress and anxiety for Pistorius, who fatally shot girlfriend Reeva Steenkamp through a closed toilet door in his home.

Ukrainian president shakes up military

Ukrainian President Petro Poroshenko shook up his faltering military Thursday, appointing a new defence minister and top general while speaking angrily about the years of decay and corruption that left the forces unable to deal effectively with the well-armed eastern insurgency.

His tougher tone, analysts say, reflects public pressure to continue the fight against the insurgents in the regions bordering Russia — even with a rickety military that's had little success.

Israel bulks up forces on Gaza border

Hamas. Increased wave of rocket fire out of Gaza has further stoked tensions since three Israeli teens were found dead last week

A Palestinian looks through a hole near a Hamas training camp following an Israeli airstrike. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Israeli military rushed additional forces to its southern border with the Gaza Strip on Thursday, vowing to halt a growing wave of rocket fire from the Palestinian territory, while new clashes erupted in east Jerusalem in response to the death of an Arab boy who Palestinians say was killed by Israeli extremists.

Israel said the show of force on the Gaza border was a defence measure. But persistent rocket fire raised the prospects of a tough Israeli response, with the military saying more than 40 rockets or mortar shells were fired from Hamas-controlled Gaza on Thursday.

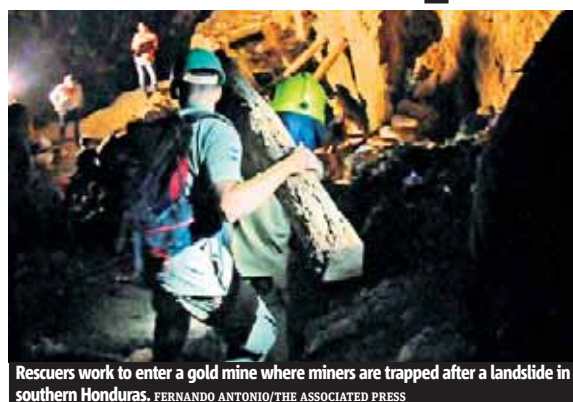

Tensions have been high since three Israeli teenagers were abducted in the West Bank on June 12, sparking a massive manhunt that ended with the discovery of their bodies early this week. Israel has blamed Hamas for the abductions and launched a crackdown on the Islamic militant group in the West Bank, drawing rocket attacks out of Gaza and Israeli airstrikes in a near-daily cycle of retaliation. Cave-in traps 11 miners in Honduras gold mine

Rescue workers using picks and shovels cleared rubble Thursday trying to reach 11 miners trapped by a cave-in the previous day inside a wildcat gold mine in southern Honduras.

The men were trapped about 80 metres into the old gold mine in the town of El Corpus, fire department spokesman Oscar Triminio said.

The mine partially collapsed shortly after 22 miners entered to search for gold Wednesday, but half were able to get out on their own, Triminio said.

He said rescue crews were not using heavy machinery because the mine "is unstable and could further collapse."

National Geological Institute director Agapito Rodriguez said that oxygen inside the mine was scarce and that three miners near the entrance were getting oxygen through an air duct.

He said those three had been able to communicate by shouting to rescue workers.

Mayor Luis Rueda said there are more than 50 mines in the area, some of them as much as 200 metres underground.

Sex killer Bernardo engaged?

'Love' behind bars.

There's nothing the government can do about it, says Justice Minister

Federal Justice Minister Peter MacKay says there's nothing the government can do to prevent Paul Bernardo from communicating with a woman who is reportedly planning to marry the convicted killer.

"That's not really an issue before the Justice Department," MacKay said Thursday.

"There hasn't been an action. There hasn't been preventative steps taken to prevent contact ... We can't stop a person from communicating through letters and emails unless there is something that is seen as harassing or criminal in its intent."

Convicted killer Paul Bernardo is serving an indeterminate sentence for the slayings of two schoolgirls, a dozen rapes and more than two dozen other sex offences — but there are still women who reportedly want to marry him.

Marriage to a convict

- If the marriage did take place, Corrections Canada would determine if Bernardo would be allowed to meet with his wife behind bars.

The latest is reported to be a 30-year-old university graduate from London, Ont., who began corresponding with Bernardo last fall, according to QMI news agency.

Corrections Canada declines to comment on individual cases. But Tim Danson, a lawyer for the families of the murdered schoolgirls, has plenty to say. "He should not be given any privileges," Danson told the Toronto Star on Thursday.

He also said the woman who considers herself to be Bernardo's fiancée needs plenty of help. "People close to her have to reach out to her and save her from herself," he said. "Just the thought of it is disturbing."

Still, there are plenty of women who struggle to make contact with Bernardo through letters. One website for prisoners' families features a hot discussion on whether it's right to try to make contact with Bernardo.

"I write to Paul all the time. I send him cards and no I don't have a fetish for concrete!" a woman who identified herself as "shoes" wrote. "I have read many books on his crimes and for some reason I hold compassion for him. Its deep in my bones and I can't let it go."

Another woman, who identified herself as "brandy99," wrote that she can see a difference between Bernardo the man and Bernardo the criminal.

Bride-to-be

'Paul's girl' believes he is innocent

In a report published on Thursday, the Quebec-owned QMI does not name the 30-year-old bride-to-be. It says that even her family doesn't believe the ceremony behind bars will ever take place.

According to QMI, the couple first met last fall after she wrote Bernardo, and the bride-to-be believes he is innocent even though he made videos of his victims in captivity.

"He has convinced her that he didn't do this (rapes or murders)," her father told QMI.

QMI says the bride-to-be has a tattoo on her ankle that says "Paul's girl," and the engagement has caused tensions within her family.

Crown agrees to psych assessment for alleged New Brunswick shooter

A young man charged with fatally shooting three RCMP officers and wounding two others in Moncton, N.B., last month will return to court July 31 after undergoing a psychiatric assessment.

Justin Bourque, 24, is facing three first-degree murder charges and two counts of attempted murder. He has not entered pleas on the charges.

Judge Irwin Lambert said he received from the defence on Thursday an affidavit signed by Victor Bourque, the accused's father, outlining why he believed a psychiatric assessment was justified.

The Crown agreed to the defence request to send Bourque for a psychiatric assessment, which will be conducted at the Shepody Healing Centre in Dorchester, N.B.

Throne speech marred by Moody's debt rating

The Liberals are promising big spending as well as restraint in a throne speech that lays out their agenda for the next decade and beyond.

They're promising to be fiscally responsible by curbing spending to meet their goal of eliminating the $12.5-billion deficit in three years.

But they also plan to spend $130 billion on public infrastructure over 10 years as well as other measures to help grow Ontario's economy.

The speech, written by the Liberals but read by Lt.-Gov. David Onley, says the government will also invest in education, skills training and corporate grants to boost the province's economic potential.

But they cautioned there's no money for wage increases in the broader public sector as new contract talks loom on the horizon.

They say voters gave them the green light when they returned them to power with a majority of seats in the legislature.

"This means your government will implement its plan by convening people first, instead of directing them," Onley said. "It will not invite your questions only after decisions are taken, but as decisions are made."

One of those decisions was the costly cancellation of two gas plants, which has dogged them for years. A legislative committee looking into the cancellations was to hear from more witnesses before the June 12 election was called.

The speech promised more government transparency and accountability, but the Liberals didn't promise more hearings, only that they would take steps to allow the committee to write its report.

What was supposed to be a banner day for the re-elected Liberals started on a sour note.

Moody's debt rating agency changed its outlook on Ontario's debt rating from stable to negative late Wednesday, citing concerns about the Liberal government's ability to slay the $12.5-billion deficit in three years.

It didn't change the province's debt ratings, but a downgrade would increase the cost of borrowing — which currently adds up to $11 billion a year.

The Liberals insist they can balance the books without eliminating public sector jobs or cutting public services, and they won't change their budget.

The budget, which will be re-introduced on July 14, was the foundation and frame of the throne speech, which reiterated many other measures in the $130.4-billion spending blueprint, such as creating a made-in-Ontario pension plan.

Fired cashier gets $180K settlement

U.S. drugstore chain Walgreens has agreed to pay US$180,000 to a diabetic cashier who was fired after eating a $1.39 bag of chips before paying for it during what she said was an attack of low blood sugar, federal officials said.

Guinness World Records. 62-year-old Galyon brothers also eyeing world's oldest conjoined twins record

Ohio brothers hoping to be recognized later this year as the world's oldest conjoined twins plan to celebrate Saturday as they hit a milestone they've been looking forward to for years.

Donnie and Ronnie Galyon of Beaver Creek will be 62 years, eight months and seven days old, and they'll have outlived Eng and Chang Bunker, the famous 19th century "Siamese Twins."

"They are talking about it constantly, day in and day out," their younger brother, Jim Galyon, told the Dayton Daily News as he planned a celebratory block party. "They've been marking their calendar off every day, counting down to the day."

What they really want, though, is recognition from Guinness World Records. That could happen in October, when they would turn 63 and pass the record held by conjoined twins from Italy.

The brothers, who are joined at the abdomen, live with Jim and his wife in Beaver Creek. The couple began caring for the twins around the clock four years ago, when the men were in poor health. The community helped with a $170,000 renovation to the home.

The twins performed in carnival sideshows and circuses until retiring in 1991 and now spend most of their time in a special bed created by a team from Mary Free Bed Rehabilitation Hospital in Grand Rapids, Mich., The Grand Rapids Press reported. The slightly offset backrests face each other, and the twins relax with their legs splayed, rather than taking turns lying on top of each other on a queen-sized bed as they used to do.

Indiegogo's mobile app comes to Canada first

Finally! For once, our country gets something before the rest of the world. OK, so it's an app for a crowdfunding platform ... We'll take it Indiegogo, which bills itself as the world's largest crowdfunding platform, is looking to grow with a move into mobile apps — starting in Canada.

The San Francisco-based company announced Thursday that Canadians are getting early access to its first mobile app, which is now available on Apple's App Store. The app will be rolling out to other countries in a couple of months, said Indiegogo CEO Slava Rubin.

"Canada is a really important country for us, in terms of volume, it's the second-largest country for us in the world ... and we send money to 70 to 100 countries a week," said Rubin, who added that an app for Google Android devices is expected before year's end. "The Canadian users have been great with their feedback and we feel like it's a great opportunity."

to help pay for their plan. Supporters are typically offered rewards in exchange for donating to help to get the idea off the ground.

Rubin said mobile usage on Indiegogo has grown dramatically in recent years and the new app is designed to help users support or launch campaigns on the go.

"We see the mobile app as an extension of where we're moving forward with our innovation," he said.

"I would say if we were starting Indiegogo from scratch today and there was nothing else existing, there's a good chance we would go mobile-only. Adding apps is just an extension of where the market and customers are taking us."

Google. 'Freedom to be forgotten' online versus the freedom of the press

Google's removal of search results in Europe is drawing accusations of press censorship, as stories from some of the continent's most prominent news outlets begin vanishing. The U.S. Internet giant said Thursday it is getting 1,000 requests a day to scrub results.

The U.S. firm must comply with a May ruling from the European Union's top court that enables citizens to ask for the removal of embarrassing personal information that pops up on a search of their names.

Among links to vanish were stories on a soccer referee who resigned after a scandal in 2010, French office workers making post-it art, a couple having sex on a train and a lawyer facing a fraud trial.

At least three British media outlets, including the BBC, said

Trout fishing in Gifu prefecture

Ukai is a traditional method of catching small Japanese trout by manipulating seabirds called cormorants in the Nagaragawa River that's been taking place every year in Japan since the 700s.

Master trainers of cormorants dressed in ancient costume freely manipulate 10 to 12 wild sea cormorants to skilfully catch small trout.

This fishing is performed every night between May 11 and Oct. 15 except during a full moon or in heavy rain.

The only illuminations are the pine torches lit on the boats.

Master trainers of cormorants belong to the Imperial Household Agency, and an important duty of theirs is to make offerings of small trout to the Emperor.

It is prescribed that in each generation the eldest son succeeds his father, and these men live with cormorants in order to train them every day.

JNTO.GO.JP

How it all goes down

Beginning at dusk, each fisherman leads about a dozen cormorants on leashes who swim alongside the boat and dive under the water to catch fish by swallowing them whole.

- The fish are kept in a special pouch in the cormorant's throat to be retrieved later.
- The fish are prevented from being swallowed by a snare around the neck of the bird.

Enjoy the Apes of summer

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Hot weather, cool movies. Sci-fi adventure, biopics, mature romantic comedy and sex are all on moviegoers' menu this summer

Richard: Mark, I was a huge Planet of the Apes fan as a kid. Loved the rubber masks, the twisty endings and the "YOU MANIACS! YOU BLEW IT UP!" scene still blows my mind.

Saw them over and over, and even enjoyed the bad ones like Conquest of the Planet of the Apes.

Today, as an adult, I have a full-sized Cornelius bust with faux chimpanzee hair in my office. So, given my obsession with simian cinema, my inner 14-year-old goes a bit ape every time I see the Dawn of the Planet of the Apes trailer. What's got you excited this summer?

Mark: I'm a Planet of the Apes fan, too, Richard. The idea of animals acting like humans is a welcome change from my life in show business, where humans act like animals.

I'm really looking forward to Lucy, starring Scarlett Johansson in a Luc Besson revenge/action flick.

This is Scarlett's moment, and this is going to be the movie to make her a megastar. The trailer made me spill my popcorn!

RC: Johansson is doing interesting work these days, splitting her time between rock 'em, sock 'em movies like Captain America: The Winter Soldier and smaller movies like Chef and Under the Skin.

Michael Fassbender has a similar career arc. We last saw him in X-Men: Days of Future Past. Next up he's in Frank, a strange indie based on the life of Frank Sidebottom, a real-life English musician who wore a giant papier-mâché head complete with painted-on eyes, ruby red lips and slicked-back hair.

I love Fassbender for still taking chances on movies like this when he could easily cash big Hollywood paycheques time after time.

MB: Sounds like one strange biopic, Richard! A more commercial variant I'm looking forward to is Get On Up, the James Brown story starring Chadwick Boseman. The Godfather of Soul never wore a papier-mâché head, but he was big on ermine capes and tantrums, so this should be a lot of fun. And what a soundtrack it will be!

For life lessons and laughs, there's And So It Goes, a mature rom-com starring Michael Douglas and Diane Keaton. Bring your CARP card for discounts on soft-chew treats from the concession stand.

RC: I don't have a CARP card yet. I do like soft chew candies, however.

As far as movies go, I'm curious about Guardians of the Galaxy. So many of the summer's blockbusters have been oh-so-serious affairs

Flick picks

When the Reel Guys aren't at the movies, one of their favourite things to do is talk about going to the movies.

- This week Richard and Mark have a look at talking apes, a vengeful Scarlett Johansson, and a singer with a papier-mâché head and a talking raccoon.
- So throw some popcorn on the BBQ, crank up the air conditioning and enjoy the Reel Guys' most anticipated films of the summer season.

that I think this one promises some good laughs and action.

Theft. Fans left fuming after famed Fault in Our Stars bench goes missing

The bench from The Fault in Our Stars has been stolen from its spot in Amsterdam. CONTRIBUTED Fans of The Fault in Our Stars discovered that a canal-side bench in Amsterdam that's the site of a key scene in the romantic drama had gone missing as they traced a tour of movie-centric moments around the Dutch capital.

The disappearance went undetected by city authorities as the bench was swiftly replaced by a flowerpot, filling up the gap in street furniture. "It's a bit embarrassing, because we do keep good track of them, but it's gone all right," city spokesman Stephan van der Hoek told The Hollywood Reporter. "Keep your eyes on eBay," he remarked, with an eye on the seat's possible eventual destination.

The city was tipped off after film fans started making inquiries as to the missing bench's whereabouts.

Released in June, Josh Boone's adaptation of the John Green young adult novel stars Shailene Woodley and Ansel Elgort as the teens who meet at a cancer patients' support group in the U.S. The pair then visits

Amsterdam to track down an elusive author.

As well as sitting on the canal-side bench, the two share a kiss in the attic of the Anne Frank House museum, though real tours of the attraction don't ascend into the loft space.

And while the bench was likely removed with intent, the flowerpot may have been an act of serendipity rather than deliberate decoy, Der Hoek said: Neighbours often club together to improve their own environs.

Provocative director gets soft in latest film

Gerontophilia.

Bruce LaBruce insists it's still fetish first, despite his tale of intergenerational sex having a notable tinge of sweetness

Toronto filmmaker, underground pornographer and all-around boundary-baiting provocateur Bruce LaBruce has accomplished something downright outrageous with his latest picture, Gerontophilia: he made something accessible, tender and — gasp — sort of mainstream. In the 50-year-old's estimation, it's perhaps the most shocking move he could have made. "I was expecting a certain amount of backlash (or) blowback," the director said over coffee at last September's Toronto International Film Festival. "I've made seven feature films pretty much all with explicit content, and suddenly to change gears and make something a little more accessible, possibly a little more mainstream — certainly done more within an industry context, government financing, my first union crew, etc. "I would expect some raised eyebrows," he continued. "I'm saying it's shocking sometimes not to be shocking. The scandal is that there is no scandal."

Still, fans of LaBruce's more nakedly daring work will still find layers of subtext to chew on in what otherwise seems his first pleasant trifle. Gerontophilia, which opens Friday in Toronto, centres on Lake (newcomer Pier-Gabriel Lajoie), an 18-year-old who takes a job in a nursing home. There, he develops feelings for an 81-year-old resident of the facility (portrayed by Walter Borden), and an unlikely romance blossoms.

Although there's a sweetness to the relationship and LaBruce's film in general, he's characteristically quick to undercut it. He wanted the film to be about a fetish — hence the title — and not a story of love overcoming a seemingly insurmountable difference.

In other words, Lake doesn't fall for Mr. Peabody in spite of their chasmic age disparity, but precisely because of it. "I very consciously made him not gay-identified — he has a girlfriend," LaBruce said of the younger character. "I also consciously start out with his fetish first. That's why the film is about gerontophilia — he does have several encounters with old men where he gets excited. He doesn't quite understand why."

The film is LaBruce's first to be deemed acceptable for audiences as young as 14 in Canada.

To Schepisi, with love and chemistry

Words and Pictures.

Clive Owen and Juliette Binoche made this director's work easy with their breezy on-screen pairing

CHRIS
scene@metronews.ca

In director Fred Schepisi's new romantic comedy Words and Pictures, there's a moving scene in which actor Clive Owen, playing an alcoholic English professor, slurringly confronts his weary adult son on the street, tearfully revealing a transgression and begging for forgiveness.

It's the moment in the otherwise lighthearted romp in which you realize that the picture has a profound ache in its heart.

It's also the moment when you are reminded about how good an actor Owen can be.

"Clive is a really passionate actor who thinks he's been given a great chance in life," the veteran filmmaker says of the British thespian, star of such diverse films as Croupier and Sin City.

"He brings a real preparation to everything he does, an intense level of interest in creating a role. Which is, of course, fantastic for me because he was also open to whatever I thought could improve. He's a magnificent performer."

Owen is the male half of the frothy, sophisticated movie, in which his cocksure yet troubled writer/professor bumps up against Juliette Binoche's elegant, tough and yet physically damaged painter/art teacher in a battle of wits that eventually leads to love.

Words and Pictures is the 18th film directed by Aussie-born Schepisi who has proved time and time again — in films ranging from The Russia House

Words and Pictures is playing in select theatres now. CONTRIBUTED to Six Degrees of Separation — that he is nothing if not an actor's director.

"Both Clive and Juliette had long respected each other's work so that was a bonus right off the bat," he recalls.

"When I got them together to meet for the first time, you just saw it. They had 'it.' They liked each other, they were very similar and made each other laugh a lot so this time, really, my job was already half done before we shot a frame!"

That chemistry between the two is palpable on screen and when we see them laugh and interact (especially in a riotous post-lovemaking scene) it's authentic and often improvised.

Quoted

"Both Clive and Juliette had long respected each other's work, so that was a bonus right off the bat."

Director Fred Schepisi

It's that organic quality which gives the film its edge, a natural hook to a film that may have, under a different director and with a different cast, easily fallen into trite cliché.

"Everything just worked," notes Schepisi.

"Even when Juliette's character paints, that's actually her doing it."

"That's her work on display. She fully understood the character and added a dimension to the role that no other actor could. It was amazing. Making the film was a journey and it was one I really, truly enjoyed."

Gosling and McAdams weren't so cuddly on the set of The Notebook

To mark the 10th anniversary of The Notebook, surely it's appropriate to wax sentimental over the now-iconic love story, or reminisce about the subsequent off-screen romance between co-stars Ryan Gosling and Rachel McAdams.

Or, if you're Notebook director Nick Cassavetes, maybe it's time to tell the world just how much the co-stars disliked each other during filming.

In an interview with VH1, Cassavetes reveals that at one point, their bickering interrupted filming. "Maybe I'm not supposed to tell this story, but they were really not getting along one day on set. Really not. And Ryan came to me, and there's 150 people standing in this big scene, and he says, 'Nick come here.' And he's doing a scene with Rachel and he says, 'Would you take her out of here and bring in another actress to read off camera with me?' I said, 'What?' He says, 'I can't do it with her. I'm not getting anything from this.'"

How did Cassavetes deal with that one? Apparently, he arranged for the stars to, er, talk it out. "We went into a room with a producer; they started screaming and yelling at each other. I walked out. At that point I was smoking cigarettes. I smoked a cigarette and everybody came out like, 'All right, let's do this.' And it got better after that, you know? They had it out ... I think Ryan respected her for standing up for her character and Rachel was happy to get that out in the open. The rest of the film wasn't smooth sailing, but it was smoother sailing." METRO

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

Adam Levine takes on his first movie role pro bono

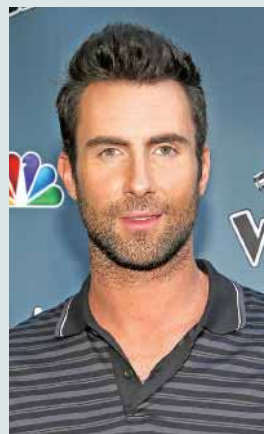

MELINDA TAUB
Metro in New York City

Adam Levine is an attractive person. In fact, being attractive may be the thing he's best at, including being the rock star frontman for Maroon 5. So he should be totally fine monetizing that attractiveness on the silver screen, right?

Not so fast. Levine says he wants to take things slow as he learns his cinematic craft — that's why he took on his role in Begin Again, opposite Keira Knightley, as more or less an unpaid intern.

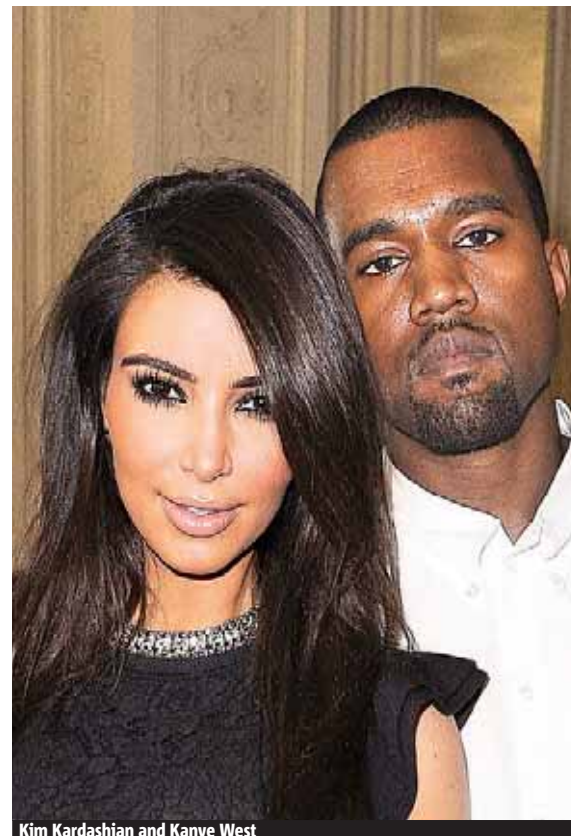

"I did this movie for no money. I'm very lucky that I'm in that position," he told USA Today. "I want to have good experiences. I don't want to do a bunch of (expletive) that I hate. I want to treat (acting) completely differently because I have the very fortunate luxury of not having to think of this in terms of money."

Between Maroon 5 and The Voice, Levine will probably never have to think of anything in terms of money again, up to and including trips to space, but he is a man of simpler pleasures: His favourite thing about being a rock star is apparently restaurants. Adam Levine loves restaurants. "I can get a reservation at any restaurant in town at any town," he says in awe. "And that's the greatest thing about being me. Because I love to eat at many different restaurants."

So putting this all together, I'm pretty sure Adam Levine will star in my web series if I take him to some restaurants. I've gotta go make some calls.

Kim Kardashian and Kanye West

Kim and Kanye may take Manhattan (for a cool $17M)

Newly married couple Kimye are reportedly apartment hunting in New York City, according to People. West already has an apartment in Soho, but apparently it isn't big enough for him, Kardashian and baby North West. Not to mention the ever-present Keeping Up With The Kardashians camera crew.

Kardashian and her mother Kris reportedly looked at an apartment in Greenwich Village, listed for $17.25 million US. According to the New York Post, the apartment boasts six bedrooms, seven bathrooms, private parking and a garden. The mom and daughter duo also reportedly looked at another apartment, on the penthouse floor, with a pool. Decisions, decisions. METRO

Liquid Assets

For the love of salmon

LIQUID ASSETS

@therealwineguy

My comments last week that I was determined to master the art of barbecuing salmon prompted some of you to send me everything from your own step-by-step instructions to links to YouTube vids.

I took your advice and, while I'm still no Iron Chef, things turned out just fine. Well, eatable at least.

There's a lot to love about salmon. Not only does it taste fantastic, its adaptability with wine continues to chip away at that old wives' tale that claims only whites go with fish. While your favourite glass of lightly-oaked chardonnay or off-dry riesling would make a good match, my palate prefers red.

With its typically plump berry flavours, pinot noir is the grape that's the yin to salmon's yang. Originally from France's Burgundy region, it's now grown worldwide with fantastic versions coming out of South America. Cono Sur's 2013 Bicicleta Pinot Noir ($10.95 - $12.99) from Chile is one for the budget-conscious. Soft and juicy with good varietal personality, it goes swimmingly with meatier fish. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Memphis-Style Baby Back Ribs. Our neighbours to the south are celebrating their independence, and you can join in vicariously with this barbecue staple

1. Prepare grill for medium-low (about 325 F) indirect cooking. In charcoal grill, this means banking hot coals to one side of the grill and cooking the ribs on the cooler side. In a gas grill, this means heating the grill with all burners on, but turning off the burners on one side just before putting the food on that side.

2. Remove silver skin from the backs of the ribs, if desired.

3. Place the soaked wood chips directly on the hot charcoals, or in smoking box if using a gas grill (place the box in the grill according to manufacturer directions). Cover the grill.

4. Rub the cut lemons all over the fronts and backs of the ribs, squeezing to release as much juice as possible. Set aside for 5 minutes, then sprinkle the ribs liberally with the barbecue rub. Let sit for 15 minutes.

5. Place the ribs, bone side down, in the centre of the cooking grate over the cooler side of the grill. Cover the grill and cook 1 1/2 to 2 hours, or until the meat is tender and has pulled back from the ends of the bones. Do not open the grill cover for at least the first 30 minutes. After that, if the ribs start to burn at the edges, stack them on top of one another in the very centre of the grill and lower your heat slightly.

6. Twenty minutes before serving, un-stack the ribs if necessary, then brush with barbecue sauce. Remove the ribs from the grill and let rest 10 minutes before cutting into individual or 2- to 3-rib portions.

7. If desired, additional barbecue sauce can be warmed and served alongside the ribs.

Classic Barbecue Rub

Summerlicious

Notable will be giving out a free meal at one of Toronto's hottest restaurants (think: Luma, Bymark, Nota Bene, Momofuku Daisho) every single night of Summerlicious, running July 4 to 20. That's right, 17 nights and 17 meals. All you have to do is tell Notables you want to go (via social media) and they'll randomly select a winner every day. It's just that easy. Visit notable.ca for details.

Modern Man

We've already given you several reasons you should be excited for Modern Man at Roy Thomson Hall on July 11, but if you've failed to do your research, you should know that this is basically the ultimate guys' night out. Everything from cocktails and cigars to fashion choices and free haircuts. If you're a man living in Toronto, there's no reason you shouldn't be here.

Lady Gaga

As Notable's Music in the Streets column posits, what do you get when you mix Jay-Z, Beyoncé, and Lady Gaga all taking the stage on the same night in downtown Toronto? Unless you're actually going to one of the shows, the answer is: You're going to wish you were at home. Expect screaming teenagers, terrifying Little Monsters, and shaky Instagram videos too far from the stage to be worthy of posting (but hey, you were there).

Salsa on St. Clair

Sometimes a weekend street festival just isn't enough. Sometimes you need an entire week to let loose all the Latin you can handle. Well, lucky you. This year's 10th annual Salsa on St. Clair Street Festival couldn't limit itself any longer so it's celebrating around the city for a full nine days. Look for dances, art exhibitions, and salsa parties we expect to fall under the category of caliente.

TURF

In only its second year, TURF (Toronto Urban Roots Festival) is set to rock (and sometimes gently roll) Fort York this weekend. Three stages, more than 40 bands, and all outdoors. Oh yeah, and an A-list roster doesn't hurt either. The Violent Femmes, Neutral Milk Hotel, Wilco's Jeff Tweedy (do we still have to qualify with Wilco?), Sam Roberts, Local Natives, Jenny Lewis, The Gaslight Anthem, and Beirut in case you were curious.

Franco-Fête

We won't harp on you for not being able to speak one of our country's two official languages, but we will encourage you to celebrate French every time you get the chance. The 32nd annual festival invites Francophones, Francophiles, and Anglophones alike to come down to Yonge-Dundas Square from July 4 to 6 for free music and fun.

Leafs continue to retool at forward

The Toronto Maple Leafs have signed forwards Mike Santorelli and Petri Kontiola to one-year contracts.

Santorelli's deal is worth $1.5 million US, according to a league source. The 28-year-old spent last season with the Vancouver Canucks.

Kontiola will reportedly make $1.1 million. His agent, Mark Gandler, confirmed the one-year contract and said the Finnish centre had to pay 20 million Russian rubles — roughly $620,297 C — to get out of the final season of his KHL deal.

The signings came a couple of days after Finn Leo Komarov returned to Toronto after a year in the KHL. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hughes to GSP: Stay out of UFC

Former UFC welterweight champion Matt Hughes says Georges St-Pierre should retire for good.

Hughes, who lost the UFC title to St-Pierre in November 2006, says now may be the time for St-Pierre to finish.

"If I was GSP, I'd probably hang them up," said Hughes, now VP of athlete development and government relations for the UFC. "Here I am: A guy that lost my (last) two fights and I'd love to get back in there (to finish on a win).... So if I had to give advice, I'd say, 'You want to get out? Get out.'"

St-Pierre has been on hiatus since vacating his 170-pound title following last November.

Bouchard makes Wimbledon final

Beats Halep to advance. Third time's the charm as Canadian phenom reaches first Grand Slam title match

Canada's Eugenie Bouchard stumbled in her first two Grand Slam semifinal appearances this year.

The third time proved to be the charm Thursday at the All England Club.

Bouchard defeated Romania's Simona Halep 7-6 (5), 6-2 to become the first Canadian to advance to the women's singles final at Wimbledon. It was the latest achievement in what has already been a historic run for Bouchard at the sport's most prestigious event.

"After doing well in the past few (Grand) Slams, I've been believing since the beginning of the tournament that I can do really well," she said. "I'm just trying to take it one match at a time. It's really important not to get ahead of ourselves."

"I totally feel like I belong, and I'm just so excited for the next match."

The 20-year-old from Westmount, Que., has yet to lose a set in her six matches so far at Wimbledon. No Canadian had ever reached the women's singles quarter-finals here in the Open era — never mind the final — before Bouchard.

There could be a Canadian in the men's singles final as well. Milos Raonic of Thornhill, Ont., will take on Switzerland's Roger Federer on Friday with

Next on Raps' list: Add frontcourt insurance

The Raptors' Amir Johnson has decided against off-season surgery on his ankle. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE FILE

Having protected one huge asset by getting Kyle Lowry to come back for at least three years, there's another key player the Raptors have to consider protecting as NBA free agency drones on.

Amir Johnson and his chronically weak ankles.

The Raptors won't lose Johnson to free agency — he's got a year left on his contract and isn't going anywhere — but having a contingency plan in place is a must as they continue to navigate free-agency waters.

It's why, according to league

Pursuing Patterson

Patrick Patterson, according to sourced reports, has had discussions with the Orlando Magic but has not received a formal offer, which Toronto would have three days to match.

sources, the Raptors have already had preliminary conversations with their own restricted free agent, Patrick Patterson, and are willing to wait for the market to calm before looking for the defensive-minded physical wing presence they need.

Johnson has decided against off-season surgery on his ankle and will try to strengthen it through exercise and rehabilitation. It might be a gamble given his penchant for tweaking it and it's why Toronto is looking for frontcourt insurance as much as anything. It also would have factored into the decision to pick up the final option year of Tyler Hansbrough's contract.

Argentina to face Belgium blitz

World Cup. Red Devils coach describes quarter-final match as team versus individual talent

So far none of Argentina's opponents has been able to stop Lionel Messi. Perhaps Belgium has what it takes.

For the first time in Brazil, Argentina faces an opponent with attacking potential that rivals its own.

"We will have to adapt, but what really interests me is to see how they will adapt to us," Belgium coach Marc Wilmots said.

Argentina has struggled on its road to the quarter-finals, relying on single moments of Messi magic to break stalemates against mostly defence-oriented teams.

On Saturday in Brasilia, it's up against a young, sparkling team that's considered a dark horse for the title. Even though it needed extra time to prevail against the United States, Belgium unleashed offensive qualities in that game that could present major problems for Argentina's sometimes shaky defence.

Belgium fired 38 shots, half of them from midfielders Kevin de Bruyne and Eden Hazard, and strikers Divock Origi and Romelo Lukaku. An impressive performance by U.S. goalkeeper Tim Howard kept the score down.

Meanwhile, Argentina's attack hasn't been as fearsome as predicted.

If Messi is in good form, he'll cause problems for Belgium, Wilmots conceded Thursday. "But if you ask me as a coach whether I prefer a good collective or one great player, I prefer the team." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

France vs. Germany

"There is a form of insouciance with the younger players. They're full of life, that's what you expect from a younger player. But it's also a question of quality."

France coach Didier Deschamps, explaining how his young club will deal with the pressure of playing powerhouse Germany in their World Cup quarter-final on Friday in Rio de Janeiro. Go to metronews.ca for more World Cup coverage.

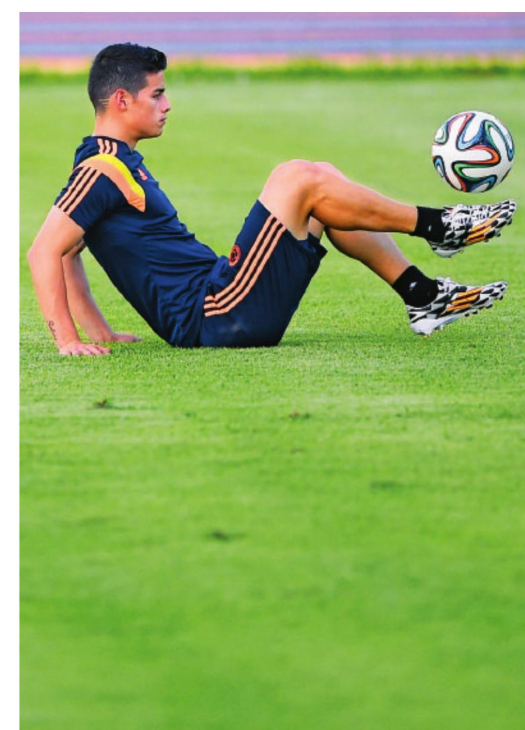

Netherlands vs. Costa Rica

Costa Rica will be attempting to shut down the Dutch striking partnership of Arjen Robben and Robin van Persie, who are looking to get back on the scoring sheet after combining for six goals in their team's first two matches but failing to find the net since. The Netherlands are the top-scoring nation in Brazil with 12 goals through four games heading into Saturday's quarter-final in Salvador.

James has golden glow

World Cup scoring leader James Rodriguez controls the ball from the ground on Thursday in Fortaleza, Brazil. Rodriguez, whose five goals put him one ahead of Argentina's Lionel Messi, Brazil's Neymar and Germany's Thomas Mueller, will try to continue his magical tournament when Colombia takes on Brazil on Friday at Castelao Stadium.

Gleason trades T.O. for N.C.

Veteran defenceman Tim Gleason returned to the Carolina Hurricanes on Thursday as the two sides agreed to terms on a $1.2-million US, one-year contract.

"We obviously know well what Tim brings to our team on and off the ice and how he fits in our organization," general manager Ron Francis said in a release. "We are happy that he is choosing to return to Raleigh."

Can latest to join Reds in Liverpool

"I am proud to be a part of the family and I am looking forward to playing here. I will give it my best," the 20-year-old Can said.

Free enterprise in the NBA

Teams are holding their cards very close in most cases, and the overwhelming majority of free agents don't seem to be anywhere close to finding a team for next season. Then again, no one officially signs until July 10. Here's a primer on where things stand:

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Photos by Getty Images

Tour de Melo

Whatever happens, the Carmelo Anthony Watch is the story of free agency so far. There have been some slipups along the way, most notably what the Rockets were thinking by plastering images of Anthony wearing Jeremy Lin's number (Lin wasn't impressed). Anthony-to-the-Lakers might be a long shot, but it would seem his wife, La La, has a name made for L.A.

Staying right here

The top free-agent point guard isn't free anymore. Kyle Lowry agreed to a four-year, $48-million deal late Wednesday night, meaning he will be staying in Toronto and continuing to lead a young Raptors team that was a break or two away from getting to the second round of the playoffs this past season.

Who's left?

Pau Gasol is getting interest from a number of teams, including Oklahoma City. Lance Stephenson is negotiating with Indiana, where he'll probably stay. Greg Monroe and Chandler Parsons are expected to get nice raises, regardless of where they are, and Luol Deng would fit with a number of teams who have some money to spend.

Big 3 update

The first two days of free agency came and went without really a peep from the Heat or any of their players. Pat Riley has remained quiet, like always. Clearly, teams aren't waiting around for the Heat to make moves, but there's still a sense that when the Miami dominoes start moving, things league-wide will start happening in a hurry.

Names to watch

Jason Kidd left Brooklyn in infamous fashion but many eyes are on player movement, and with good reason. It might seem odd in some circles that names like Paul Pierce, Josh McRoberts, Spencer Hawes, Shawn Marion, Jordan Hill and NBA Finals hero Boris Diaw aren't getting more attention. Look for that to change, quickly.

Concussions. Former NFL players object to settlement

Seven retired NFL players are objecting to a proposed settlement of concussion claims, calling it a "lousy deal" for ex-players whose symptoms don't qualify them for compensation.

The players' lawyers filed a motion in federal court in Philadelphia on Wednesday urging a judge to reject the settlement between the NFL and as many as 20,000 retired players. The settlement provides up to $5 million each for retired players who develop Lou Gehrig's disease, dementia or other neurological problems believed to be caused by concussions suffered during their pro careers.

The deal excludes players with symptoms of a degenerative brain condition called chronic traumatic encephalopathy, those suffering from milder brain injuries and veterans of the defunct NFL Europe, the players' objection said. The players also said that the proposed claims process is onerous and confusing and that attorneys for the plaintiffs failed to conduct any discovery in the case.

"The revised settlement is a great deal — for the NFL and class counsel," who would get $112.5 million in attorneys' fees, the players' motion said. "It is a lousy deal for the retired players, whose rights have been bargained away without adequate or independent representation."

A spokesman for the plaintiffs' attorneys declined to comment on Thursday, referring to an earlier statement touting the deal. An NFL spokesman also declined to comment.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 4,500 former players have filed suit including former Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett, pictured, and Super Bowl-winning Chicago Bears QB Jim McMahon.

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

You have to accept what is taking place in your life, even though you may not approve of it. There are times when even an Aries must bend with the breeze and this is one of them.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

You like to take initiative but though you may not yield to those who do not share your sense of adventure. It may be frustrating but you can't change it so don't let it upset you.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

There will be times today when you could scream at people who refuse to see sense but keep quiet. Your way of doing things may indeed be best but no amount of threats will change their minds.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

Don't worry if you upset someone today because you need to let others know you won't be pushed around. It may mean the end of a friendship but that's a small price to pay for securing your freedom.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

Yes, of course, you have a right to say what you think but don't forget that others have the right to hit back if they so choose. If you clash with someone whose ideas are at odds with your own there could be fireworks today.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

What happens over the next 24 hours will bring you down to earth with a bump but maybe that's good. Your head has been up there in the clouds a bit too long. Come back to reality.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

You have allowed certain people to get away with things they did not deserve to get away with. Now you must balance things out and see to it that they pay for their mistakes.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

If there are any loose ends in your affairs, you must deal with them over the next 24 hours. If you leave them flapping in the breeze they will trip you up sooner or later — likely sooner.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

This may be a difficult day for you but it can also be a day when you learn something to your advantage. If you are torn between the future and the past, choose the future.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

There is no point trying to force the pace because the Sun opposing Pluto in your sign won't let you — and will remind you where the real power lies. Also, focus on finishing what has been started.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

The quality you most need today is patience. Come the weekend you will be able to start doing things again but over the next 24 hours control your urge to push ahead.

Pisces

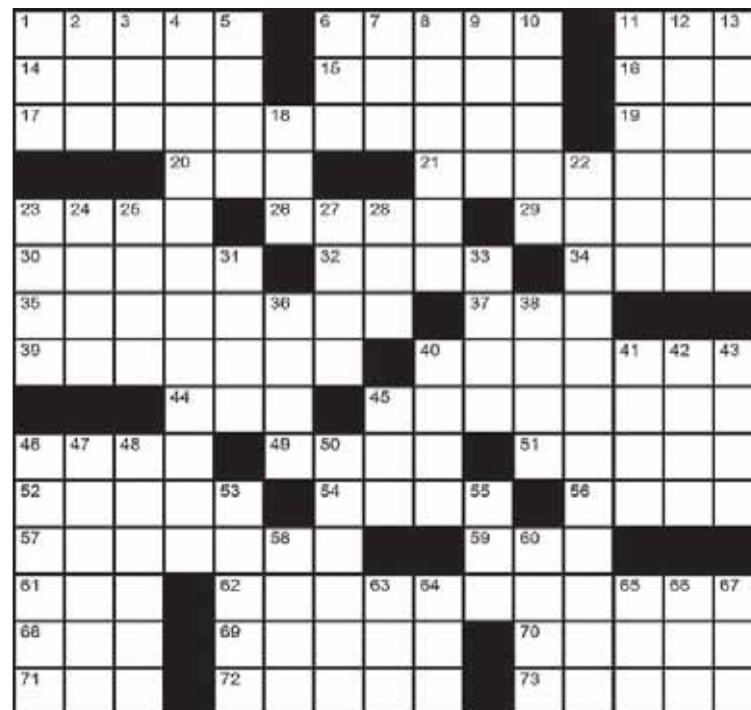

Feb. 20 - March 20

For some reason you seem to be afraid of your own shadow — even though most things in your life are going well. Don't let fear hold you back from doing something creative today. Once you start your confidence will return. SALLY BROMPTON
